We also have numerous video cameras and equipment available for certified volunteers to check out. In addition, MetroEast empowers local government, community groups and non-profit organizations through media. We provide support via partnerships and provide a platform for them to educate the community and promote their mission.

Our vision of a digital future includes equitable participation from all communities. We are committed to digital inclusion; and focus on ensuring everyone has access to digital content, training, and tools. We are committed to addressing the inequity caused by systemic oppression, regardless of a person’s race, ethnicity, faith, culture, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, socioeconomic or family status.

We understand that certain communities are significantly under-represented among those experiencing the digital divide in east Multnomah County and barriers to access exist at all stages. We are committed to responding to the need for media and digital literacy in East Multnomah County and are dedicating time and resources at every level of our organization to identify solutions to barriers. This statement and equity plan are living documents and continually assessed and revised.
